LVM-Maritime Testing (LVM) is currently looking for an Environmental Technologist to join its Mount Pearl, Newfoundland and Labrador office.

Who we are?

Established in 1961, LVM, a division of EnGlobe Corp., is one of Canada's leading geotechnical, construction materials and environmental firms and offers a comprehensive range of professional services to a wide array of clients. LVM operates 60 offices across Canada and has a current full-time staff of over 1,600 employees nationwide and is proud of its ISO 9001:2008 quality management system and recognized national certifications for all its services.

Mission

LVM's mission is to offer technical expertise and innovative solutions to support sustainable development principles, in partnership with our public- and private-sector clients. The LVM team offers a wide range of integrated services geared at protecting the interests of our clients and ensuring the durability of their projects. At LVM, our employees are the heart of our company. For that reason, occupational health and safety is one of the fundamental priorities of the firm and our employees.

Responsibilities

Reporting to the Team Leader, your main task will be to co-ordinate and complete assigned activities with respect to the implementation and management of environmental projects including but not limited to:

- Perform Phased Environmental Site Assessments, including historical research, site inspections and soil and groundwater sampling programs;
- Carry out surveys for Designated Substances and other Hazardous Materials;
- Supervise and verify site remediation and tank removal activities;
- Air quality monitoring;
- Preparation of field notes, data analysis and evaluation;
- Participate in technical report and proposal writing; and,
- Develop and maintain client relationships.

Qualifications

- University Degree or College Diploma in Environmental Engineering, Earth Sciences or an environmental related field;
- Minimum 5 years of relevant environmental assessment/field experience;
- Working knowledge of both provincial and federal environmental regulations;
- Demonstrated oral and written communication skills;
- Experience in supervising contractors on the work site;
- Strong organizational skills, attention to detail and able to complete work within established timeframes;
- Valid driver's license; and,
- Willingness and ability to travel throughout Newfoundland and Labrador on an occasional basis.

Competitive Compensation and Benefits

To apply for this position, please submit your resume via e-mail to keith.rowe@lvm.ca or via fax: 576-3713.